

My family of four listens to our local K-LOVE on 106.7 every day. It informs us of local concerts on interest and links us to a national Christian community. As a person who travels for business, I like the fact that I can tune into a local KLOVE station in many cities that I visit.

If K-LOVE were to stop broadcasting locally there would be a void in the market place that would not be readily filled.

There is no doubt in mind that K-LOVE serves the public interest by providing information about local events and national news on things that are important to Christians.
